Product Warranties

30-Day Money Back Guarantee

Data Sourcing Technologies (DST) provides an initial 30-Day Money Back Guarantee to each customer's initial order. The Guarantee will begin on the delivery date and will expire on the 31st day following. Beginning on the 31st day, the standard two-year warranty will be in effect. This Guarantee is subject to change without notice.

Two-Year Warranty

Data Sourcing Technologies offers a two-year limited warranty on all products. This Warranty is limited to the operation and durability of the components of the product and does not cover wear and tear due to normal daily use. DST reserves the right to test and inspect all warranty claims and replace or provide repair to the product in question. If repair is provided, only the components required to provide complete and proper operation of the product will be repaired. This Warranty is considered null and void if the product is deemed to have been subjected to misuse, accident, or unauthorized repair. No replacement units will be provided during the repair process.

Extended Warranty

DST offers extended warranties and maintenance programs on all of its products. These warranties and programs are available at a cost per unit, per year. DST will ship replacement units as soon as notification is received and provide complete repair and maintenance on any non-functioning unit. DST reserves the right to determine the repair and replacement needed.
